

Haematological Malignancies

London, UK
5th–6th October 2010

- Description: This course reviews the haematological system and provides an overview on the spectrum of haematological cancers.
- The pathophysiology of haematological malignancies such as leukaemias, lymphomas and myeloma are discussed along with their common treatments such as high dose chemotherapy and total body irradiation. The issues and complications of bone marrow and stem cell transplant will be reviewed. Matters relating to clinical trial issues including ethical considerations and NICE directives will be examined. Additional therapeutic options such as immunotherapy and vaccines will also be considered.
- Case studies, quizzes and open discussion will form an integral part of the programme.
- Who should attend? Healthcare's courses are designed for both medical and non-medical staff within the pharmaceutical industry. This course is suitable for clinical research, medical information, regulatory affairs, biometrics and strategic marketing personnel.
- CPD accreditation: Healthcare's programmes are approved by the Faculty of Pharmaceutical Medicine for CPD accreditation. Details can be supplied on request.
