

Oncology Clinical Experience Programme

St James's University Hospital, Leeds, UK
9th–12th November 2010

Description:

This clinical experience programme will provide participants with an overview of the spectrum of malignant disease. The manifestation, presentation, investigation and management of a range of common solid tumour types (breast, lung, colorectal, gynaecological, gastrointestinal, prostate) will be reviewed. Clinicians active in these areas will examine patient management throughout the process. The context of cancer care will also be reviewed including the epidemiology of cancer and factors affecting treatment choices and prescribers' decision-making.

This clinical experience programme combines taught lectures and clinical visits, providing a unique opportunity for delegates to experience, first hand, the assessment and treatment options utilised within the overall management of patients with malignant disease. Open discussions and case presentations form a key element of this programme. Delegates will also have the opportunity to interact with patients in small group sessions.

Who should attend?

This course is suitable for pharmaceutical industry personnel from clinical research, medical affairs, regulatory and strategic marketing functions working in drug development and marketing of oncology products and compounds.
